Award Winning Seniors

Carmel High School seniors who received awards, pins and scholarships were named at the annual Awards Assembly on May 29. For further details on the honors presented to the 27 graduating seniors see page 3.

CLUBS

Gem and Mineral Society

Members of the Carmel Valley Gem & Mineral Society will be heading down Highway 1 to Willow Creek and Jade Beach for this month's club field trip which will be held Saturday, June 17.

Meeting place for the group will be at Willow Creek which is approximately 70 miles south on Highway 1. The group will form up at 9:30 a.m. with departure for the field at 10 a.m.

Material sought will be jade, beach agates, and jaspers. This will be an all day trip and those who participate are reminded to bring a lunch and also a change of clothes is advised as much of the hunting will be at the water's edge. Lloyd Bell is field trip chairman.

Lions' barbecue

The third annual Lions Barbecue will be held this year on Father's Day, June 18, from 1 to 5 p.m. Steak and all the trimmings will be waiting at the Carmel Valley Filter Plant.

There will be games for adults and youngsters, with the entire family welcome.

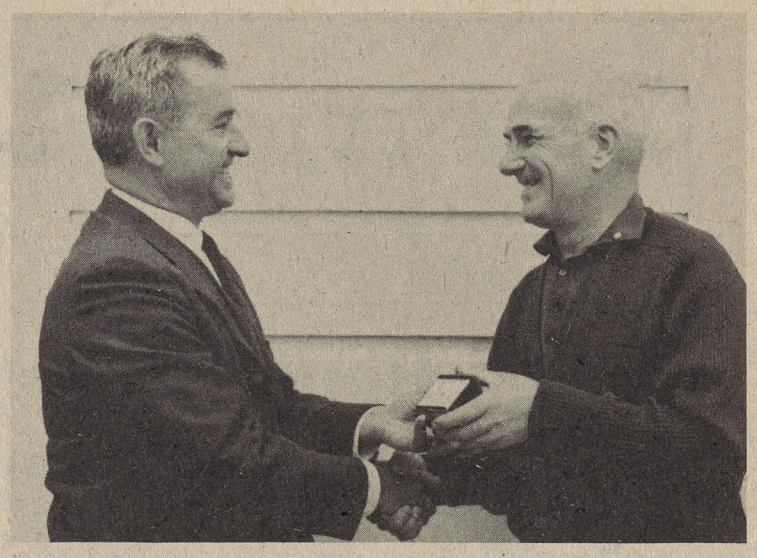
Donation is $2.50.

Trail & Saddle

Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club will hold its second award series for young riders 12 and under and 13 through 17 next Saturday at the club grounds on E. Garzas Road.

The all-day affair will commence at 10 a.m. with inspection, equitation and drill team events in the morning and bareback horsemanship, trail class, pole bending and barrel racing after lunch.

Entry must be made at the booth before 10 a.m. Fees are $1 for members and $5 for guests. There will be separate award ribbons and trophies for members and guests.



TRIBUTES TO BILL MALLEK were many at CV Kiwanis Club's meeting last week Tuesday and Pres. Joe Ricupero, right, presented him with a clock. Mallek, a Kiwanis past president, and his wife Phyl will do graduate work at the University of Oregon next school year. Principal of Tularcitos School the past nine years, he plans to switch to high school teaching here on his return.

PlanCom tours Valley subdivision hills

County Planning Commissioners were joined by members of the Upper and Lower Valley Advisory Boards, members of the Mid-Valley Property Owners Association and the CVPOA on their slope density field trip last Wednesday. Not all commissioners braved the cold winds of "Sun Drenched Upper Carmel Valley," however, with only Keith Evans, Dr. Ed Marcucci, Perry Henderson and Mrs. Nora Hare participating.

Planning director Ed DeMars conducted the tour which covered subdivisions falling into different categories with slope percentages ranging from 37% to 43%.

The one planned development closest to the B plan of the William Spangle Slope Density formula is Los Tulares, a 200-acre subdivision beyond Carmel Valley Village. The average grade is 37% and under plan B, 71 lots would be allowed. Developer Jack Rauber plans 69 lots with private rather than county roads.

The steepest part of the subdivision road is 15% grade as compared with an average of 7-8% on public roads.

Annual MVPOA meeting June 19

The board of the Mid-Valley Property Owners Association approved a letter to the California Division of Highways, requesting two northbound lanes on Highway 1 from Carmel Valley Road to the high school.

According to president Ed Lee, they are asking this action to alleviate the bottleneck which develops at this spot.

At the Thursday board meeting, it was also decided to write to the Board of Supervisors to suggest that money be included in the budget to improve the existing Carmel Valley road, as needed, and to procede with planlines for the alternate Canada de la Segunda route.

The date for the annual meeting has been set for Monday, June 19, at 8 p.m. in the music room of the high school.

The board action on the roads will be repeated to members at this time.

Population explosion

Five hundred and twenty-five unwanted dogs and cats were brought to the S.P.C.A. Animal Shelter in New Monterey (which services Carmel Valley, Carmel and part of Monterey) during the month of May. This is double the number the shelter was asked to care for last year, according to the records of director Gwen May.

"Kitten season" is bigger and better (or worse, according to how you look at it) this year . . . people bringing boxes and baskets full to be "taken care of."

As the S.P.C.A. Board of Directors sees it, the best way to "take care" of these waifs is to see that they are not born into a world which cannot or will not care for them.

The California Branch of the Humane Society of the United States has sent out the following chart to try to wake people up to the problem of what they term "The Other Population Explosion." In California where 1,000 kittens and puppies are born every 60 minutes:

START WITH ONE UNSPAYED FEMALE DOG.

During the first year she (first generation) produces 4 puppies, 2 of them females.	4
In second year, production of first and second generation females is 12 pups, 6 female.	12
In third year, production of three generations of females is 36 pups, 54 female.	36
In fifth year, production of five generations of females is 108 pups, 54 female.	108
In sixth year, production of six generations is 324 pups, 162 female.	324
In seventh year, production is 2,916 pups, 1,458 female.	2,916
TOTAL OFFSPRING OF SINGLE FEMALE IN SEVEN YEARS ·	4,372

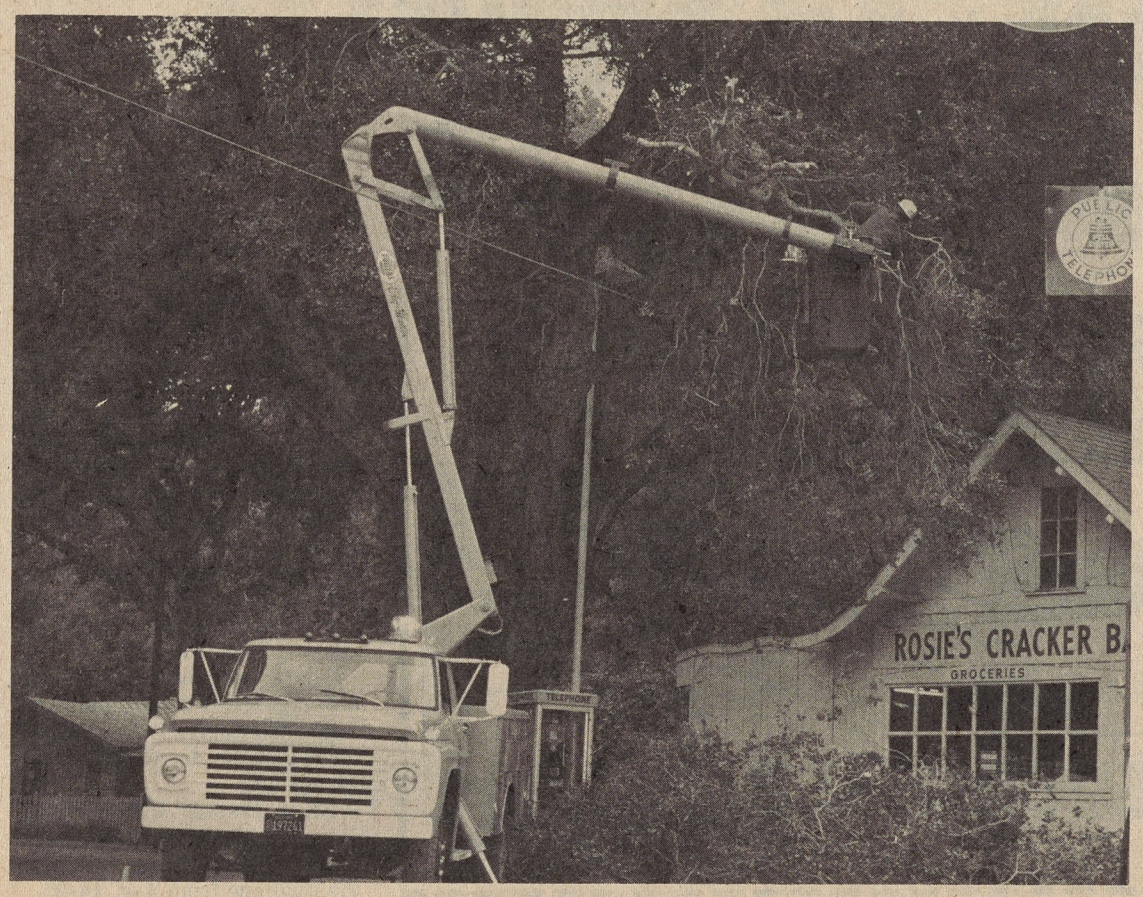
Down goes a landmark



THE HUGE OLD OAK TREE which has been standing guard over Rosie's Cracker Barrel in Robles del Rio is no longer there. It took several days for the county road department to complete the job of removing the giant. A split, completely through the middle of the tree, made it necessary to chain the sections together and cut it away piecemeal.

The Rhyming Philosopher

Our daughters and sons have returned once again
To our home in the heart of the west.
'Mid rustic surroundings and peace now and then
They lay around partly undressed.

The lure of the out-of-doors opens their pores
And provides a most valid excuse
To seldom as possible go back indoors
Where anarchy's been on the loose.

The dishes from previous meals are piled high,
The beds look like no one could use them;
But any suggestion of work breeds a sigh,
With so much going on to amuse them.

We eat on the patio mainly because
The dining room's cluttered and musty,
Yet nobody mentions the house-cleaning chores
Since skills in such things have gone rusty.

I'll build me a shack some fine day by the sea,
Where house-keeping takes but a minute.
Outside of a table and chair and just me,
There won't be another thing in it.

CV Little League

Red Sox, Volunteers, Tigers winners

Ted Hall's no-hitter Saturday, the first in Casey Park, enabled the red-hot Red Sox to snatch a 3-1 thriller-diller from the fighting Giants. A single miscue in the fourth let in a run and deprived the Red Sox of a perfect game. Brilliant pitching and all-around spectacular fielding featured the contest, the best one so far this season. Manny Mancebo and Mike Feeney, each with deft back-handed stabs, stood out defensively. Ted Hall led the offense with a double, which scored the winning run, and a single. Bob Conlan connected for a double and scored a run. The first-half champion Red Sox lead 2-0 in the second half. Totals: Red Sox 3 runs, 6 hits, 1 error; Giants 1 run, 0 hits, 1 error. WP Ted Hall, LP Mike Groves.

In Thursday's game, the Red Sox were forced to come from behind to top the Volunteers 7-4. Bob Conlan's double, combined with three walks and an error, sparked a four-run fourth inning to give the Red Sox the victory. Mike Feeney yielded four hits and fanned 11 Volunteers. Totals: Volunteers 4-4-6; Red Sox 7-5-2. WP Mike Feeney, LP Tom Ocampo.

In the second game Saturday, the Volunteers crushed the Tigers 22-3. Steve Hohler allowed seven hits, struck out nine batters, and hit a triple and a double. Tiger Rod Deas went three-for-three. Totals: Tigers 3-7-6; Volunteers 22-14-4.

In the opener of the second half of the season Tuesday, the Tigers trounced the Giants 20-4. The Tigers bunched their hits and profited from Giant errors. Sparky LaGrange and Bob Harris for the Tigers and Mike Groves for the Giants went two-for-two. Totals: Tigers 20-9-4; Giants 4-6-7. WP Tom Salyers, LP Ronnie Bennett.

FARM TEAMS

In the Farm Teams' loop, the White Sox won a close 14-12 game from the Indians Saturday morning. The Indians tallied six times in the fourth inning and had the tieing runs on base when the time limit ended the game. Big bat for the day was Jim Bugbee of the Indians who went three-for-three. Totals: Indians 12-8; White Sox 14-6. WP Greg Giordano, LP Larry Ocampo.

In Monday's game, the Pirates edged the White Sox 14-11 to climb out of the cellar in a hotly contested affair. WP Billy Neidinger, LP Gary Eldridge.

In the other game Saturday, the first-place Cubs bested the second-place Pirates 10-5. Paul Jackson allowed the losers only four hits. Hank Dormody and rookie Dave Sparkauhl, playing his first game, hit triples for the Cubs. The Cubs now have eight straight wins to one defeat. WP Paul Jackson, LP Steve Sherman.

In Wednesday's game, the Cubs defeated the Indians 12-4 behind Paul Jackson's masterful two-hitter. Bill Hancpol of the Cubs with some daring base running tried to stretch a single and a series of miscues into a home run only to be tossed out at the plate. WP Paul Jackson, LP John Barry.

Pre-school swim registration to start June 19

Registration is going well at the Valley pool for swimming lessons. Anyone who missed the original days, can register for both the swimming and diving by calling 624-3342.

June 19 is the beginning day of registration for the pre-school swim lessons, at the swimming pool office in the Valley at 1. Youngsters will have to pass a test of measurement for they have to be tall enough to stand in the shallow end.

The pre-school lesson time will be from 11:30 to noon each day at the Valley pool for a two-week period.

There will be a choice of different times and parents are requested to give it thought before coming to enroll their youngsters.

First session will be from July 5-15, then July 17-29, followed by July 31-Aug. 11, with the final one from Aug. 14-25.

New Principal Gumbrell:

'No pat answers' for school problems

ARTHUR J. GUMBRELL, who will replace Warren Edwards in the fall as principal of Carmel High School, gesticulates in reply to Sandpiper questioning. (Photo by Phil Goulding)

(Reprinted from the Carmel High School "Sandpiper")

"Teaching is not telling. You don't teach a person by preaching, but by giving them responsibility," said Arthur J. Gumbrell, the newly hired principal for Carmel High School.

Discussing student government, he explained, "The problem is difficult because we give our authority, but we can't delegate our responsibility."

He felt it was important for the students to experience government, but the school board was ultimately responsible for the student council's action. If the school government decided to take a day off or mismanaged funds, the principal, the superintendent and the school board would have to take responsibility.

"There are no pat answers," Gumbrell concluded.

Applying his statement about responsibility to the use of outside speakers, he said, "In a democratic society, there must be an opportunity for people to understand all sides of an issue. To quote from Socrates, 'The unexamined life is not worth living.'"

"It is not the business of the school," he continued, "to provide for irresponsible expressions of opinion. It is the business of the school to implement opportunities for the fulfillment of Socrate's statement." If Gumbrell as principal had to disapprove or approve of a speaker, he would decide depending on whether he felt the speaker could give the students what they wanted.

Turning to the dress code, the new administrator said he had not see the CHS code and therefore had no way of judging it. But he felt a dress code should be based on three things: geography and climate, the period of history and what was socially acceptable. "We're not talking about an ethical code, but social behavior."

Concerning its freedom from administrative action, a freedom that The Sandpiper has enjoyed for the two years of its existence, Gumbrell had no way of knowing whether it would continue. He had read only one issue of The Sandpiper, and said next year's policy would depend on what The Sandpiper printed.

Two long-time instructors, John Farr and "Buzz" Rainer, will be leaving CHS next year.

Rainer has accepted a teaching position at the same school in Athens, Greece, where Warren Edwards, CHS principal, will be working next year. He expects to be granted a two-year leave of absence by the CUSD School Board.

The English teacher, a 13-year veteran of CHS, said of his new position in Greece: "It will give me a chance to broaden my background and offer a better range of material to my students."

Business Assoc. meet

"Project No Dough" is the title of an entertaining talk to be given by Ann Foley, who traveled a month on only a credit card, at a dinner meeting of Carmel Business Association Thursday at 7:30 at the new Holiday Inn at the mouth of Carmel Valley. Social hour is at 6:30.

OUTLOOK ON CARMEL

May 24, 1967 CARMEL VALLEY OUTLOOK

Carmel Planning Commissioner

'Parking is our largest problem,' says Godwin

"In order to be in the investment business, you have to fill out pages of personal history ...with specific dates for everything. This is then checked by the New York Stock Exchange. Having done this six or seven times remembering becomes second nature."

The comment of Bill Godwin was in answer to how could he remember just exactly when things happened.

He had been calling off names, dates and places with the ease and accuracy of the electronic stock market board behind him.

His association with Carmel began in 1934 when he used to come down from San Francisco and spend each summer vacation there.

He was born and educated in San Francisco and went to MPC and University of California. He was an aviation cadet, spent 4 1/2 years in the Air Force, and then married a San Francisco girl whom he had gone to school with.

He and his wife, Jean, came to Carmel in 1956, when he went to work for his father as manager of the Pine Inn.

He left there in 1959 and moved to Santa Barbara where he was, first, assistant manager, and then general manager of the Santa Barbara Biltmore.

In 1962, he came back to manage the Pine Inn, just shortly before his father sold it. From there to the Highlands Inn and then into the investment business.

BILL GODWIN

Bill was on the Carmel Planning Commission in 1962-63, but resigned temporarily when he went into training for his investment job. Then in 1964 he returned to the commission.

He is active in the Carmel Lions and on the board of directors of the Central Mission Trails Heart Association.

He has a wide interest in sports, but with two boys, Michael and Bill, aged 8 and 10, it is a natural that he would be manager of a Little League team.

Local planning must follow a formula to preserve the character of Carmel in the best interests of both the businessman and the resident, according to Bill. People in Carmel need to know that it will not change to their displeasure...He feels that the one largest problem that Carmel has is its parking. Both the resident and the business people must put their heads together and solve it together. he declared.

Mrs. Bannister takes reins of Carmel Woman's Club

Mrs. Robert Bannister was elected president of the Carmel Woman's Club at its annual meeting on Monday, June 5.

The traditional potluck luncheon for Club members preceded the election, with the outgoing board members acting as hostesses.

Elected with Mrs. Bannister were Mrs. J.C. Hale, first vice president and program chairman; Mrs. Wallace Lowry, second vice president and membership chairman; Mrs. Raymond Taylor, recording secretary; Mrs. Myron Hayward, corresponding secretary and Miss Effie Theobold, treasurer.

The incoming president, Mrs. Bannister, moved to Carmel with her husband and son, Jeffrey, in 1949. She has been secretary of the Parent-Teacher Association and at present is a member and staff chairman of the Peninsula Community Hospital Auxiliary.

Section chairmen named at the meeting were: Mrs. Helene Denbo, card section; Mrs. A.C. Bryans, book section; and Mrs. Charles Pearson, house and garden section.

Also elected to the board were Mrs. E.J. Mulrooney, house chairman; Mrs. Raymond Mapstead, serving a second term as ways and means chairman, Mrs. Harry Wingard, hospitality; and Mrs. Fred J. Reynolds, flower chairman; Mrs. Allan Craig was re-elected publicity chairman for the club.

Mrs. Lewis Hulse and Mrs. C.H. Taggert were named to the nominating committee for 1967-68.

The outgoing president, Mrs. J.R. Lynas, announced that a gift of $100 had been made to the Carmel Youth Center and a check for $150 presented to Gateway Center for the Retarded.

As her personal gift, Mrs. Lynas presented the club with a large framed wall mirror to be hung in the Clubhouse entrance hall.

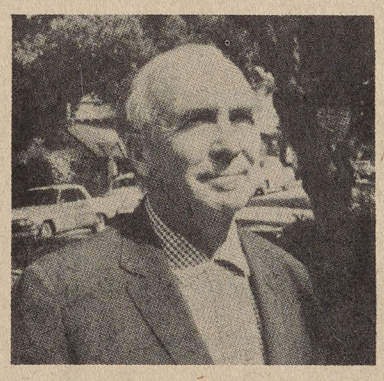
CARMEL ART ASSOCIATION



JOHN CUNNINGHAM

Paintings by John Cunningham fill the Beardsley room of the Carmel Art Association this month. One of the best known of Carmel's artists and teachers, Mr. Cunningham's distinguished career has included a one-man show at the DeYoung Memorial Museum and many others throughout the country; two years as resident artist at Cranbrook Academy of Art, president and director of the Carmel Art Institute for many years and president, in 1965, of the Carmel Art Association.

VIRGINIA CONROY AT MPMA

Artist in oil, tempera, acrylic, Swedish putty and charcoal, and sometimes all these media at once...Virginia Conroy's show at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association is exciting much comment. Her works, for the most part abstract, are big and bold and rhythmic. She uses a grey grainy putty as a sculptor would, to give some of her paintings a high relief, appealing to the sense of touch almost as much as to the sight.

This exhibition was awarded to Miss Conroy by Fred Martin, director of the San Francisco Art Institute and judge of the Museum's Annual competitive, "Monterey County Painting 1966." Miss Conroy was born in New York; she studied at the Chouinard Art Institute, Los Angeles State College and the San Francisco Art Institute.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

RE-ASSIGNED MILITARY FAMILIES ARE ON THE MOVE

Once again a goodly portion of traffic on the Carmel Valley roads seems to be made up of moving vans taking our military families to their next assignment. Each and every one of them take along wishes for the very best of everyting from their many Valley friends and neighbors.

Bound for Washington, D.C. are Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. James M. Daniels who for two years were residents of Country Club Drive while Jim studied for his PhD. at the Naval Postgraduate School. Barbara and daughters, Karen and Kris, took an active part in community affairs.

Lt. Cmdr. Harry L. Bixby has been added to the Oceanography staff at Pearl Harbor. For the three years that they made their home on Lower Circle, he was an instructor of Environmental Science at the Naval Postgraduate School. Ann, who served as a substitute teachers in the Carmel Unified School District, leaves on the 10th with children Alicia, Kevin, and David, for their summer home at Lake Tahoe, where they will stay until their departure for the Islands on the 28th on the Lurline.

Lt. Col. Louis Baeriswyl (USMC) was to arrive in Washington, D.C., May 23 after completing an assignment in Da Nang, Vietnam. His wife, Harriet, daughters Christine and Sue, and son, Stewart, who made their home on Poppy Road during his overseas assignment, left last week to hold a happy reunion. At the Sunday services before departing to establish their Eastern home, Christine became a member of the Community Chapel.

Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Robert Porter are enroute to Key West, Fla. (with a slight detour to Disneyland). Following a brief schooling in the Peninsula State they will continue to their next permanent station at Norfolk, Va. The Porters made their home on Via Contenta with Laurie, Bobby, and a recently adopted cherub, Ann. Perhaps the best traveled member of their family (Village-wise, that is) was their basset hound, Benny! To keep their wandering pet from his self-appointed rounds and make certain that he would be on deck when the final load left, Benny was tied. The area around the Fire House still resounds with his mournful farewell howls!

Neighbors on Upper Circle will miss the members of the Lake household consisting of Lt. and Mrs. John Lake and sons Douglas, Kevin, and Dean. John, who just graduated from the Naval Postgraduate School, received his Master's degree in Mechanical Engineering. He has been assigned to the shipyards in Newport News, Va., where the ship "John F. Kennedy" was recently launched.

Edwina's mother, Mrs. Phoebe H. Knipling of Washington, D.C. was here for a recent visit and the Lake's middle son, Kevin, accompanied her east. Reports to the Valley say that both sets of grandparents are keeping Master Lake so busy that there has not been a spare moment for him to be homesick. Douglas, who has just completed the first grade in Mrs. Elaine Sandberg's Tularcitos first grade class, is looking forward to an exciting summer with his Grandmother Lake in England where he will be the guest of his 'Aunt Jane.'

Lt. and Mrs. Tomas G. Henderson of 44 Calle de la Paloma are leaving June 16 for Anapolis where Tom will be an instructor at the Naval Academy. The Hendersons have been Valley residents for two years, while he completed his Bachelor of Science degree in Engineering. Their daughter, Laurie, has just completed kindergarten while Lois has participated in the Co-op Nursery School program with their son, Alan.

With their neighbors, Ruth and Rex Pryer, Lois and Tom co-hosted the foursome's second annual patio party. The invited guests enjoyed cocktails, the buffet, and gathering around the quaint iron pot that the Pryers use for cheery warmth on the patio. Among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Foster, Capt. (USMC) and Mrs. Chancey Fairchild, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Kern, Mrs. Patricia DeAmaral, Maj. (ret.) and Mrs. Daniel Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. William Isaacs, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rauber, Lt. and Mrs. John Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Naton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. Edward Arana, Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Marzi, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. James M. Gleim, Mr. Jim Ijams, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Klikovac, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Walker, Mrs. Thomas Tucker,

Mr. and Mrs. James Friday, Maj. (ret.) Billie Mans, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Cloud, Mr. Lee Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. Michel Joyet, Mrs. Virginia Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knych, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin T. Johnson, Lt. Donald Sheldon, Dr. and Mrs. Dale Bouche, Mr. and Mrs. William Burleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowher, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilsdon, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Colvin, Dr. and Mrs. Arno Hanel, and Capt. (ret.) and Mrs. George Clifford.

* * * * * * * *

Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. G.H. Katzman and family, 40 Upper Circle, enjoyed a ten-day visit from Candy's mother and brother, Mrs. Helen Jellison and David. It was the second visit to the Valley for the visitors who make their home in Corpus Christi, Tex.

NURSERY SCHOOL TRIP

Field trips highlighted the month of April for activities in the Carmel Valley Parent Nursery School. The children were delighted with the tame owl and other wild life found at the Hastings Reservation and were given a sampling of their life next year as kindergarten students when they visited the classes of Miss Sally Witter and Mrs. Barbara Wilson. The visitation is traditional and "this year," chuckled Sally, "as every year in the past, the first spots on the tour conducted by kindergarten guides are introduced with pride as 'THIS is the refrigerator and THIS is the bathroom!'"

The following day the film, a United Artists release, will begin its regular schedule of reserved seat performances at the CINEMA-70.

Fine acting in not so 'rosy' drama at Circle Theatre

The three actors who sustain the action of "The Subject Was Roses" at the Circle Theatre these weekends deserve bouquets for their concerted efforts. They are Robert Heater, Gertrude Chappell and Gordon Bloyer, excellent actors all. But the subject of the wry little drama they are involved in is decidedly not rosy.

They play a warring couple and their son, who returns home after three years in the army to find himself once more right in the midst of his parents' battles.

He tells his mother, "When I left here three years ago, I blamed Pop for what was wrong. When I came back, I blamed you. Now I'm not so sure anyone's to blame, not even me."

The audience is never sure who's to blame either. Perhaps it is Frank D. Gilroy, the playwright.

His characters try hard, but unsuccessfully, to relate to each other. Only progress made is within the father-son relationship but this is not enough to really resolve anything and the audience was taken by surprise opening night when the lights suddenly went out and came on again to find the players standing for a curtain call.

But then, "The Subject Was Roses" didn't win many first night kudos in New York either. People kept coming to see it, however, and the honors came later. It won the Pulitzer prize and three other awards.

At any rate, "Roses" is a thoughtful sort of play to sandwich in between "Room Service" and "Charley's Aunt," the two new comedies to be presented by the Community Theatre in summer repertory to run from July 11 through Sept. 3, Tuesdays through Sundays at the Circle.

Its fine production of "Hedda Gabler" is also on the schedule.

Carmelo completes I

"Out of 68 children, no two scored the same." This comment by Phil Smith, upper level teacher, points out the basis for the individually prescribed instruction.

Now the youngsters really take off on their own. They have learned enough so that instead of asking they work it out themselves.

As a final part of the upper level reading program, the children were asked to list the interests in which they would like to work. From these seven would be chosen. It is interesting to note that all of the first choices of the youngsters were able to be included... These varied from biography to research reading and reports to poetry, both study and original writing.

Individual prescriptions for learning are teaching patterns for Ca

A school room full of almost 70 children could seem like potential dynamite... talking, goofing off, running around... Visit Carmelo School, midway up Carmel Valley and find the exception.

For the past year, Carmelo has been an ungraded school with the 150 youngsters divided intro three groups, kindergarten, lower primary which covers both first and second, and upper primary, handling third and fourth graders.

Rooms were thrown together and the large groups of children formed... 52 in the Alpha or lower group and 68 in the Beta or upper primary.

These rooms buzz, not with mischievous activity, but with the excitement of concentrated learning effort.

In one corner a group sits listening to stories, another group is reading and listing words in dictionary word boxes. Nearby a teacher aide from Carmel Valley Manor works in language skills with a small group.

The math program in the lower primary grades is a self-contained plan with three teachers. The youngsters are grouped by achievement but it is far from a static situation with continual evaluation and change. This same approach to math carries through the upper level.

Social studies follows a similar outline of fluidity. The Taba social studies program follows the theory that thinking skills can be taught, and it relates the broad concepts and comparisons instead of a tight learning pattern of facts. The facts are also taught but the method stimulates thinking in broader planes.

In the lower level the reading program stresses phonics with a great deal of emphasis on creative writing as a part of the study.

The basic readers are also used and children learn early to use the dictionary and make up word boxes of those which they learn. The word boxes are then used for referral instead of asking the teacher. They strengthen both the vocabulary and spelling skills.

Words in original stories are often written phonetically if the child doesn't know the spelling. This is particularly true at the end of the year, when the child has become extremely independent.

LEFT—The kindergarten program stresses reading readiness. On library day, the youngsters spend time reading and then choose books to be taken home for the week. Enid Parmerlee begins basic phonics with her morning kindergarten class... with some students on a part-time basis in math and social studies, in the afternoon with the lower primary teachers. Sandy Harrison (foreground) and Ann Wellborn were deep in concentration during library period.

Outside of the regular teaching staff, Carmelo has had the services of John Farr for vocal music instruction several times a week, and they now boast a beginning and advanced choir which sings throughout the Peninsula.

Sharon Jones gives instrumental instruction at the 4th grade level.

Teachers at Carmelo feel that this year's program has been most rewarding both from their standpoint and the children's.

If enthusiasm and concentration are any measure of success, it would certainly appear that the Carmelo children have profited with the past year's instruction.

THE WONDERMENT of story telling is in no way dulled by modern electronic aids, as evidenced by Jill Ricketts in lower primary. Jill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Ricketts of Scarlett Road, will write a story of her own, compose a different ending to the one she has heard, or draw illustrations of the parts she liked best. Vocabulary study, spelling, creative writing and art are combined in the learning experience.

Cookery Corner

Featuring the favorite recipes of local cooks.

NICOLE (MRS. JACK) LONGFELLOW, lived in Italy as well as her native France before coming to the United States, the bride of an American soldier.

You might say she can cook in three languages. She says she enjoys American and Italian cooking, but French, in her opinion, is simpler. This is true, she points out, particularly in the use of herbs which are used sparingly in France. And perhaps with more discrimination. She likes to use thyme, tarragon, nutmeg and lots of chopped parsley.

We are glad to save her the trouble of making individual copies of her fruit tart recipe for the many friends who have asked her for it.

Mrs. Longfellow's avocation is tutoring and giving lessons in French and parents who have sampled her teaching will be happy to learn that she plans to form a beginners' class for children during summer vacation.

Her own bi-lingual offspring are son Denis, 14, at Junipero High; daughter Pascale, 13, at Middle School and son Laurent, 8, at Tularcitos.

TARTE AUX FRUITS

Crust: (makes 2 nine-inch pie shells)

2 cups flour
1 cube butter or margarine and 1/2 cup lard (or 2 cubes butter or margarine)
3/4 cup water (about)
1 T. sugar

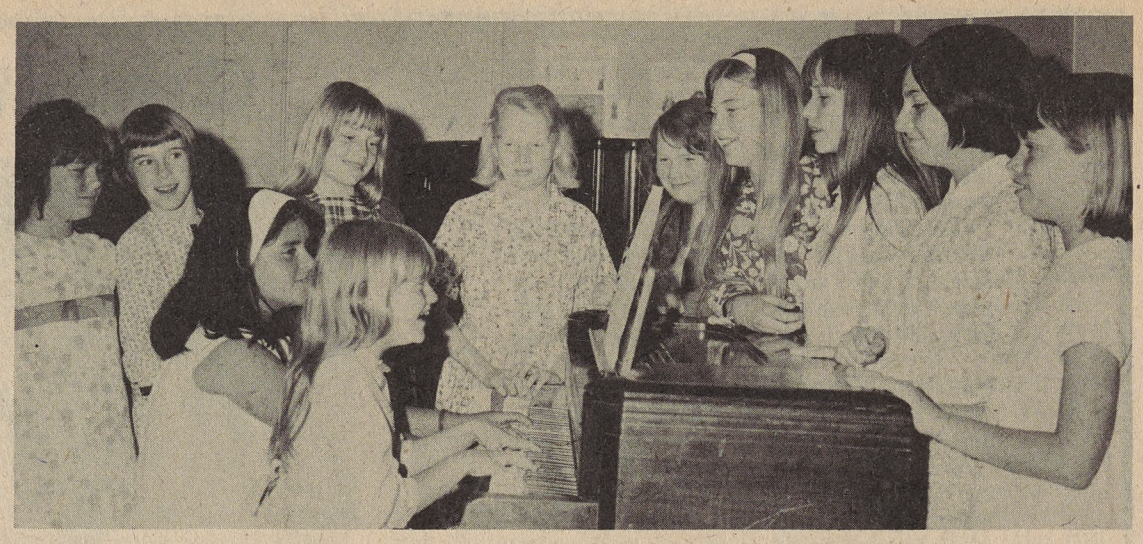
Mix ingredients as quickly as possible and form a ball which must no longer be sticky. Let rest in refrigerator for at least 2 hours.

Flatten dough with rolling pin and arrange in pie molds, pinching the sides. Dampen edges and sprinkle lightly with sugar. Bake at 450 for about 20 minutes.

Filling: (for one pie)

2 egg yolks
3 T. sugar
2 T. corn starch or flour
1 1/2 cups hot milk (2 teas. vanilla added)

Mix egg yolks and sugar, add corn starch and mix thoroughly. Add hot milk slowly, beating well. Cook on slow fire, stirring all the time until mixture thickens. (This custard is also used to fill "puss," "eclairs," etc.) Pour into pie shell.



THESE SMILING FACES belong to Mrs. Sunzah Park's piano students who participated in a recital on Sunday, June 4. Held in Fellowship Hall of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel, the recital was attended by parents and friends who heard the girls play not only solos, but duets, two-piano numbers, and one in which three girls played together. Afterwards refreshments were served to the students and their guests. Seated at the piano are Blanca Zarazua (left) and Marian Doud. (standing, left to right) Laurel Porter, Carol Frisbie, Anita Bresk, Holly Beckstrom, Anne Erskine, Helena Bresk, Lydia Bresk, Miriam Decker and Becky Sweet.

Topping:

Arrange fresh fruit over top and sprinkle with sugar or pour 1/4 cup of heated raspberry or other jelly on top to glaze.

CONSOMME MADRILENE

1 qt. chicken broth
4 ripe tomatoes, finely chopped

Can be served warm with finely cut parsley and cubes of parmesan cheese or very chilled in the summer.

POULET AUX FINES HERBES
(Chicken with herbs)

Fry lightly a cut-up chicken in butter or margarine. When about done, add 3/4 cup white wine, salt and pepper, and 2 tsp. tarragon.

Let juice reduce by half.

To the sauce, add either the juice of 1/2 a lemon or 1 cup sour cream. (In the latter case, let the sauce come to a simmer before serving).

Plain rice with cream sauce is excellent with this dish. Potatoes, cooked in butter or margarine, and sprinkled with parsley also goes well.

CYYO

Well, the Carmel Valley Youth Organization finally did it! They're going all the way out, by sponsoring a Psychedelic Light Show and Dance.

A groovy band, called the Scoville Society will play. That's not all, there will be Go-Go Girls, free refreshments and swinging door prizes.

So if you want something groovy to do Thursday night, June 15, between 8 and 11 p.m., come to the Carmel Valley Youth Center on Ford Road, and have a ball! It's only $1.00 for members and $1.50 for non-members.

Cynthia Fraties, daughter of the Gail Fraties on Paso Cresta, invited playmates to her home Saturday to help celebrate her 6th birthday. Twelve little girls enjoyed an afternoon of games and refreshments, especially the clever Candy Town birthday cake with its miniature houses and trees constructed of candies.

Small begonia plants were presented as favors to each guest: Sandra Trout, Wendy Brown, Wendy Lambert, Lisa Bruno, M'Liz DeAmaral, Susan Edwards, Debbie Dunham, and Cynthia's sister, Valeria, Jessica and Lucinda.

The Valley Bridge Club enjoyed an evening of play Tuesday at the Community Center. First place winners were Mr. and Mrs. E.W. Gravelle. In second spot were Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Van Laanen. Third place honors were won by Irene Baldwin and her partner, Mrs. Mary Drobek.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Armstrong honored Julie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Robertson recently with a surprise party in honor of their silver wedding anniversary. The 35 friends and relatives arriving at the Armstrong home on Country Club Drive admired the centerpiece of silver and white flowers on the buffet table and the beautiful three-tiered cake which was cut by the celebrants.

Among the guests were the couples' other two daughters, Christina, and Victoria who is attending the O'Connor School of Nursing in San Jose; and Mrs. Robertson's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Morasca of Oakland. Entertainment during the evening was furnished by the host, whose dance band is well known in the area; the hostess, Julie, also his vocalist, and Jaye Valenzuela, a member of the band.

There is a Valley resident who the "Phantom Oak Moth" hears is sincerely hoping next year will be spared a visit from the "wine thief" during the Festival of the Grape. Seems that during the wine tasting event at Rancho del Monte, a scoundrel entered via an unlocked kitchen door and absconded with $150 worth of... WINE! Next year buy a ticket and support the CV Community Center.

Mrs. John Berry invited a group of friends to her home on Sage Road for dinner and bridge as a farewell party for two Navy wives, Edwina Lake and Lois Henderson, who are leaving soon. Paula Washington made the delicious hors d'oeuvres for the occasion. Attending were Kay Draper, Doreen McKenzie, Sandra Ortman, Shirley Frazer, Gail Buche, Patricia DeAmaral, Rae Black, and Eva Doelman.

P.G.man in 3-car accident in Valley

Richard Ellings of 933 Walnut St., Pacific Grove, was driver of a car involved in a tree-car accident Sunday in front of Dr. Van Horn's office. The westbound car swerved attempting to avoid colliding with a car backing into the highway. Ellings and his passenger, Steven McKinney, 1024 McFarland Ave., P.G., were taken to a Village physician by the first aid squad of the CV Volunteer Fire Dept.

St. Philip's to honor 10 Confirmands

Ten young people who have been studying with Pastor Bretheim for the past two school years will be confirmed at the second Sunday morning worship service, June 18, in the new St. Philip's Lutheran Church.

The service begins at 10 a.m.

The following are members of this class of confirmands: Bonnie Banker, Daniel Bretheim, David Nystrom, Deborah Nystrom, Karen Skaalegaard, Chris Smith, Hans Smith, Karen Stuart, Gregory Wilson and Robert Wilson.

In the evening at 7 p.m., the congregation will give a reception for the class and their parents in the all-purpose room of the church. Essays which the boys and girls have written will be shared at this time.

Following the reception, the confirmands will be offered their first communion at a service using the lights in the new sanctuary for the first time.

The Rev. Rolland Wuest, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd of Salinas, will bring the communion meditation and administer the sacrament.

WARNING! THIS HOUSE MAY SPOIL YOU FOR ANY OTHER KIND OF HOME

What there is behind those handsomest of entry gates, and the hand-carved front door, is a real change-of-pace contemporary with old world charm. Mutually exclusive terms? Not at all!

The style is contemporary because of the tremendous windows looking out on the fairway, it's style of architecture, its most modern approach to room arrangements, the unobtrusive use of every possible modern appliance and convenience throughout the more than 3000 square feet of floor space. Yet the old-world is there, too, in the tremendous beamed ceilings, the cosy fireplaces, the old-leather appeal of the library, the warm, friendly feeling of the handsome carpeting, draperies, and other superb features of the decorating.

Especially if you have been planning to build, let us show you something already done with such taste and imagination and infinite care to the smallest details of comfort and convenience, that we doubt you could duplicate it. It's located in the Carmel Valley Country Club.

DeMars commented that the 2 1/2-acre minimum is the "key to private roads." Some subdivisions such as High Meadows will have a combination of a public with private roads leading from it.

Next subdivision on the map was Rancho Del Monte #11 at the top of Country Club Drive. In this particular area, which has a one-acre minimum and an average slope of 43%, there are 16 lots. Under the Spangle regulations, only 11 would have been allowed.

Rancho Tierra Grande #2 had 213 lots on 315 acres. Under the Spangle plan 113 would have been allowed. Here the slope gradient averages 37.2%.

Moving from regular residential subdivisions, the group traveled to Del Mesa Carmel, an example of cluster development. Here there were 295 actual units grouped on the flat mesa with greenbelt surrounding it. Under the slope density formula, 122 would be allowed.

Speaking of the importance of regulations on hillside lots, DeMars added that the formula alone would not do the trick. He would like to see regulations on grading incorporated into the adopted ordinance.

"Otherwise," he said, "anyone can take a hillside and bulldoze it into a canyon and come out with flat land."

For the past three weeks the planning staff has been working intensively with the formula checking mathematics. They hope to be ready to present it to the Planning Commission in the very near future, according to DeMars.
